RE: Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), 5 U.S.C. § 552
Request No. 19-01041-FOIA

Dear Mr. Nordlicht:

This letter is in reference to your request dated January 30, 2019, and received in this office on January 31, 2019, for all communication-emails, texts and phone records from January 1, 2014 to December 31, 2016, between former Director of Enforcement Andrew Ceresney and any member of the media.¹

We will be unable to respond to your request within the Freedom of Information Act's twenty day statutory time period, as there are unusual circumstances which impact on our ability to quickly process your request. Therefore, we are invoking the 10 day extension. These unusual circumstances are: (a) the potential volume of records responsive to your request, and (b) the need for consultation with one or more other offices having a substantial interest in either the determination or the subject matter of the records. For these reasons, we will process your case consistent with the order in which we received your request.

We have identified approximately 6,180 pages of emails that may be responsive to your request. We typically estimate that it will take a staff member one (1) hour to review approximately 50 pages of emails records. Therefore, our preliminary estimate at this point to review the approximately 6,180 pages of email for release under the FOIA is approximately 124 hours.

Since the records are voluminous, if requested, we would process them in our Complex track. Under 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(6)(D)(i) agencies may provide for multi-track processing of requests for records based on the amount of work or time (or both) involved in processing requests. The SEC's regulation implementing multi-track processing is located at 17 CFR § 200.80(d)(4).

At present we anticipate that it may take thirty-six months or more before we can begin to process a request placed in our Complex track.

If you are interested in having us place your request in our Complex Track, please write or call me by April 16, 2019, and identify the records of interest to you.

If you have any questions, or if you would like to discuss ways in which you can narrow the scope of your request to possibly avoid placement in our Complex track, please contact me at osbornes@sec.gov or (202) 551-8371. You may also contact me at foiapa@sec.gov or (202) 551-7900. You may also contact the SEC's FOIA Public Service Center at foiapa@sec.gov or (202) 551-7900. For more information about the FOIA Public Service Center and other options available to you please see the attached addendum.

Sincerely,

Sonja Osborne

Sonja- Thank you for your response. I would like to narrow the request to avoid being placed in the complex track. If we changed the timeframe to March 15 2016-August 15,2016, would that do the trick? If so, when do you think the search will be completed? I can also eliminate Reuters from the request. My request would thus be "all communication-emails, texts and phone records from March 15, 2016 through August 15, 2016

between former Director of Enforcement

Andrew Ceresney and any member of the New York Post, Wall Street Journal, Bloomberg or the New York Times." This should cut down between 75% and 85% of the potentially responsive records. Please advise on path forward. Regards, Mark
